

Commercial contract surety bonds

SOLUTIONS FOR ALL YOUR CLIENTS' NEEDS

Commercial contract bonds are a critical component of your client's total insurance program.

All types of commercial accounts need contract bonds

Commercial contract bonds are performance bonds in which the surety (Travelers) guarantees to the obligee (usually a public entity such as federal, state or local government or a private owner) that the principal (client) will perform its contractual obligations per the agreed upon terms and conditions in the underlying contract.

Most people think of construction (sticks and bricks) when contract bonds are mentioned, however, all types of commercial accounts need contract bonds. We classify these businesses as commercial contractors. The most common commercial contractors are supply contractors such as manufacturers, wholesalers or retailers who enter into contracts to supply and/or install specific products, or service contractors whose primary business is to perform specific services for another entity.

Benefit of offering commercial contract surety bonds

By addressing your client's bonding needs, you are not only providing a valuable product and service, but are also protecting your client relationship in a very competitive environment. You don't need to be a surety expert to assist them because our knowledgeable and experienced underwriters will help you through the entire underwriting process!

The Travelers advantage

It can be difficult to find a surety that understands the unique structures of commercial contractors, the complex and various contract provisions, the diverse industries and the different financial statements involved. Our commercial contract underwriters write bonds for clients that traditional construction contract underwriters often turn away.

- We understand the needs of middle market and smaller companies, and we can provide substantial capacity for large commercial accounts.
- We have a dedicated commercial surety business segment that specializes in bonds for non-construction clients.
- We have locations nationwide to assist in bond execution and procurement of bond forms, and we are experienced in the placement of international bonds.
- Our rating plan provides well-managed accounts with competitive rates based on their credit quality, not solely on the size of their balance sheet.
- Our dedicated claim managers are recognized as the best in the industry and work directly with you and your customers.
- Top rating agencies have consistently provided our primary underwriting company, Travelers Casualty and Surety Company of America, with high marks for financial strength.

Types of contract surety bonds

Bid bond

Affords protection to the obligee in the event the successful bidder does not enter into a contract and does not provide the required surety bonds or other security.

Litigation bond

Protects the obligee if an unsuccessful bidder files suit against the obligee challenging the award of the contract. If the challenger does not prevail and it is found the lawsuit was frivolous, brought in bad faith or on unreasonable grounds, the obligee may recover damages and expenses resulting from the suit.

Maintenance bond

Maintenance bonds for commercial contractors may either guarantee the ongoing servicing of equipment or facilities during the duration of a contract, or may guarantee against defective workmanship or materials.

Performance bond

Provides protection to the obligee if the principal defaults on its obligations under the bonded contract.

Payment bond

Guarantees that the principal will pay their subcontractors, labor and material costs associated with a bonded contract.

Supply bond

Guarantees performance by the principal to furnish equipment, supplies or materials to the obligee.

Helping your clients

SELF-INSURED WORKERS COMPENSATION BONDS

Many large companies today want to self-insure their workers' compensation programs, for a wide variety of reasons. Companies that choose this option must post security in order to comply with state laws. This is for the protection and benefit of their employees, as the security is ensuring that the company is financially sound enough to self-insure.

Travelers Self-Insured Workers Compensation Bond

A self-insured workers compensation bond is a long-term financial guarantee that helps a company satisfy state law. The state (or a state agency) is typically the Obligee but the bond is for the benefit of the employer's injured workers. It guarantees that the principal on the bond will pay workers compensation benefits to any employee who may become injured.

Market opportunity

Any company that chooses to self-insure for its workers' compensation programs is a potential client.

Top industries include:

Healthcare

Manufacturing companies

Fortune 1000 companies

Universities

Retail chains

Hospitals

Trucking/Logistics companies

Benefits of the bond

As bank pricing can be volatile and expensive, a surety bond is a great alternative to other security options, such as a letter of credit. A Letter of Credit can tie up a company's credit capacity, thus reducing financial flexibility. Surety bonds are generally not charged against a company's credit line, which gives the company the option to reinvest the capital into its own business.

A bond can also replace cash collateral, trust agreements and escrow deposits.

Travelers can help

Travelers has consistently written self-insured compensation bonds, and we have a team of underwriters dedicated to the self-insured workers' compensation bond market. Because of this, we can help you identify prospects and opportunities in your market to help you grow your business.

Backed by Travelers

For over 100 years, Travelers has been a leader in the surety industry. We have over 50 locations throughout North America, staffed with dedicated underwriters and surety claim professionals.

- Largest writer of surety bonds in North America
- Combined Treasury listing in excess of $1.5 billion; the largest in the surety industry
- A.M. Best* rating of A++ (superior) for financial strength

Protecting your employees

SELF-INSURING YOUR WORKERS COMPENSATION PROGRAMS

A crucial component of any business are the employees that make up the company. Successful businesses start with good employees.

When reviewing options for setting up a workers compensation program, many companies choose to self-insure. Companies that choose to do so are generally required to post security in each state where they self insured. Travelers can help.

Self-Insured Workers Compensation Bond

What is it?

A self-insured workers compensation bond is a long-term financial guarantee that helps your company satisfy state laws when choosing to self-insure your workers compensation program.

How does it work?

The bond is for the benefit of your injured employees. It guarantees that you (the principal on the bond) will pay workers compensation benefits to any employee who may become injured.

Who needs it?

Any company that chooses to self-insure for its workers compensation programs.

Free up funds

Other alternatives, such as a letter of credit, tie up your company's credit capacity, thus reducing financial flexibility. Surety bonds are not charged against your company's credit line, which gives you the option to reinvest the capital into your business.

A bond can also replace cash collateral, trust agreements and escrow deposits.

Travelers can help

When you choose a surety bond from Travelers, you are buying more than a piece of paper. Travelers has a team behind you – from surety product experts to dedicated claim professionals. Should a dispute arise, Travelers will help resolve it fairly and swiftly.

Founded in 1853, Travelers has been a leader in providing a variety of surety bonds and insurance products for more than 100 years. Travelers is there when our customers need us.

Surety bonds overview

BOND EXPRESS

It's that simple. Bond Express streamlines the way you do business!

License and permit bonds

License and permit bonds are required of individuals or businesses that coincide with the license or permit they are about to obtain from either local or state government entities. These bonds guarantee the principal will remain in compliance with the regulations and ordinances related to the license or permit and hold the obligee harmless from any incurred damages. Some common types include:

- Auctioneers
- Contractors
- Insurance brokers
- Liquor/beer
- Mortgage brokers
- Motor vehicle dealers
- Oversize/overweight
- Private detectives
- Surplus lines brokers
- Toll payment

Lost instrument bonds

A lost instrument bond is required when someone loses a redeemable item of value, such as a share of stock, certificate of deposit, promissory note or deed of trust. The bond guarantees the principal will protect the obligee (usually a bank or transfer agent) from any loss or expense suffered as a result of the issuance of a duplicate instrument. Lost instrument bonds can have either an open or fixed penalty and are most often needed by:

- Any company that loses a stock certificate, mortgage note, etc.
- Banks
- Brokerage firms
- Individuals
- Transfer agents

Notary bonds

Most states require that a Notary, or an individual who has applied for appointment as a Notary, purchase a Notary bond to protect the public from negligent mistakes or dishonest acts by the Notary. Typically, the bond guarantees that the Notary will truly and faithfully perform and discharge all the duties of the office of Notary Public according to the law. The bond form also guarantees payment to all parties for monetary damages suffered as a result of any failure by the Notary applicant to discharge their duties as a Notary.

While a Notary bond protects the public, errors and omissions coverage protects the Notary. Errors and Omissions (E&O) insurance provides protection in the event the Notary commits a negligent act or makes an error or omission while acting as a Notary. If this error or omission causes a loss to the public and the Notary is legally obligated to pay for that loss, E&O coverage responds.

Court bonds

Court bonds are required of principals who are either appointed to act in a fiduciary capacity (probate/fiduciary) or involved as a litigant in a lawsuit seeking a right or remedy in advance of a final court decision (litigant/judicial). Only through the court can these bonds be released.

Probate/fiduciary bonds

Probate/fiduciary bonds are required by law to guarantee an honest accounting and faithful performance of the duties of the fiduciary and compliance with the orders of the probate court. A fiduciary is a person, bank or trust company appointed by a court order to administer the estate or property of another person who is unable to manage his or her own affairs. We specialize in the following probate bonds:

- Administrator/executor
- Guardian of minor/conservator/curator
- Trustee

Litigant/judicial court bonds

Litigant/judicial court bonds are required when a litigant seeks a special right or remedy in advance of a final court decision. These bonds protect litigants from loss in the event the final decision is adverse to their interests. We specialize in the following litigant/judicial court bonds for plaintiffs only:

- Attachment
- Cost
- Indemnity to sheriff
- Injunction
- Receiver
- Replevin
- Temporary restraining order
- Trustee in bankruptcy

Public official bonds

Public official bonds are surety bonds that guarantee a public official will perform the duties of office faithfully and honestly and, in most cases, a surety bond is required in order to hold office. While these duties may vary by position and applicable law, a public official is obligated to act in the public's best interest at all times and will be held personally accountable, with few exceptions, for the duties and responsibilities of that position.

Public official bonds are required by:

- Court offices and federal government
- Sheriff departments
- States, cities, towns, villages and municipalities
- State colleges, universities, and school districts

Public officials that may require surety bonds:

- Judges and court clerks
- Postal units
- Sheriffs, deputies and constables
- Tax collectors and subordinates*
- Town supervisors
- Treasurers and subordinates*

We also write:

- Blanket fidelity coverage for all public employees who do not require statutory surety bonds*
- Special issue bonds*

*For these bonds, other money handlers, and bonds in excess of $50,000, please contact your Private and Nonprofit field representative.
